⚡ DIRECTOR'S NOTE

One of the things I love most about School of Rock is that underneath all the guitars, chaos, and comedy, there is actually a really important idea about PURPOSE.

At the beginning of the show, almost every adult is focused on themselves or somebody else's version of success. Dewey wants fame. Patti wants the perfect life NOW. Rosalie is too focused on her own reputation and towing the Horace Green line. The parents want successful kids. The teachers want control and order. Even Dewey's rock dreams are empty at first because they are mostly about Dewey.

On the other side are the kids, who are so busy trying to be what everyone else wants them to be that they can't even see what makes them joyful yet. As Mason says, it's rock that set's them free!

When Andrew Lloyd Webber first watched the original School of Rock with his children, he loved how joyful and real it felt. He did not want the Broadway version to make fun of rock music or turn it into a polished parody. He wanted it to feel authentic, loud, messy, energetic, and FUN!

Even the famous Led Zeppelin "Immigrant Song" story connects to this idea of banding together to accomplish a common goal. Led Zeppelin had a reputation for saying no to their music being used for films, so Jack Black gathered the cast of School of Rock the movie to film a giant plea begging them for permission to use the song. Against the odds, Led Zeppelin said yes! How could they resist being part of something that promised to teach rock to the world!

Here at Connect Theatre, we love performing. We love creating. We love the energy of being onstage. But if we only do it for ourselves, it does not really work. The magic happens when what brings us joy also brings joy to other people.

And by other people we mean YOU! May the power of rock set you free for the next 2 hours--and then some!

⚡ CONNECT THEATRE

Connect Theatre is a youth theatre company in Dundas, Ontario, offering young people a welcoming place to learn, grow, and connect through the performing arts. As a not-for-profit educational organization, our board and creative team work together to build community by helping youth become confident communicators, collaborators, and performers.

Our mission is to spark creativity, build confidence, and bring people together through the magic of musical theatre. We provide a fun, supportive space where young people can explore their talents, challenge themselves, and experience the joy of working as a team—learning to love the process as much as the final show.

For youth who may not feel at home in traditional team settings, we offer a creative outlet where they can shine, form meaningful connections, and develop leadership and people skills. Our productions are more than performances—they're experiences that help young people discover their potential and create memories that last long after the curtain falls.

Above all, we believe in the power of the arts to strengthen community. Our performers' creativity, teamwork, and passion matter. They bring joy to the present, shape lasting memories, and leave a positive impact. At Connect Theatre, everyone belongs, everyone contributes, and everyone works together toward the shared goal of creating something amazing.

⚡ LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We would like to acknowledge that the land on which we stand are the traditional territories of the Erie, Neutral, Huron-Wendat Haudenosaunee, and Anishnaabek.

The city of Hamilton is home to many Indigenous peoples from across Turtle Island and we recognize that we must do more to learn about the rich history of this land so that we can better understand our roles as residents and neighbours.

We stand in solidarity with murdered and missing Indigenous women, girls, transgender, and two-spirit peoples.
